The UK Oracle User Group has announced the winners of its second Partner of the Year Awards.

The award are unique in that they are end-user driven, with Oracle customers nominating the companies and organisations that have delivered the best service and the best value for money over the past year.

The contestants were all nominated by Oracle users and the winners were voted for by UKOUG membership.

Ronan Miles, chairman of UKOUG said, "Officially recognising the unrivalled value that Oracle partners bring to the Oracle eco-system throughout the UK and Ireland had long been an objective of mine.

"With over 1,000 customer votes cast, the winners of the UKOUG Partner of the Year Awards 2009 should feel proud that their customers have chosen to publically recognise the outstanding value they deliver."

The winners are:

- UKOUG Applications Partner of the Year - DSP Managed Services
